

From ageism to advantage: empowering multigenerational teams

Dive into these eye-opening stats and see why it's imperative that we take action in tackling the pressing issue of ageism in the workplace.

By 2050, there will be:

30%

of workers in 2030 will be Generation Z.

83% of global leaders recognise that multigen workforces are the key to growth.

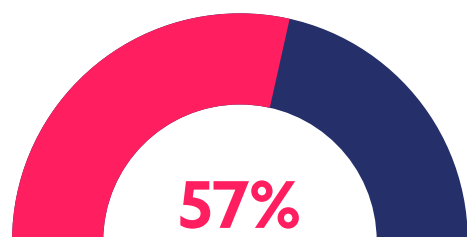

Yet, only...

6% have unbiased recruiting processes.

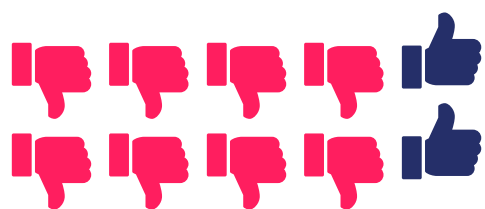

47% include age in their diversity & inclusion policy.

38%

of companies have mandatory retirement policies.

of workers globally want to work beyond traditional retirement age.

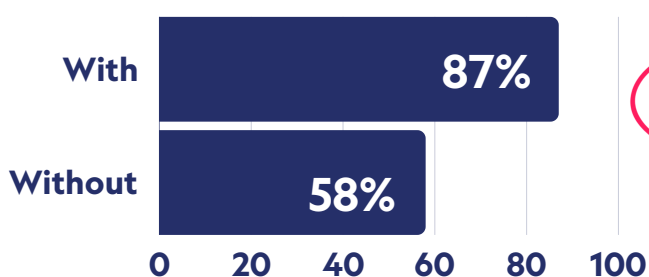

81% of survey takers found it hard to have someone younger than them as their manager/supervisor.

95%

of workers in their 50's see age discrimination as a common occurrence in the workplace.

% of high productivity employees

intergenerational work practices.

Want to find out more? Get in touch!